

WIFI International

#First partner for education and vocational training abroad

Your continuing education partner for international locations

Qualified personnel are a decisive factor for success – anywhere in the world. WIFI International supports Austrian companies in providing their teams with targeted education and training – practical, linguistically adapted, and tailored to regional requirements.

Our services – your advantages:

- On-site training – in the local language:
Our international partner network of 500 local trainers conducts practice-oriented training courses directly at your subsidiary – in the respective local language, in German, or in English.
- Tailor-made programs:
Whether technical training, soft skills, digitalization, or sustainability – we develop training solutions that fit your business goals.
- Quality “made in Austria”:
Our programs are based on Austrian educational standards and the WIFI learning model LENA – for sustainable learning success.
- International certifications:
Whether ISO 17024 certificates or final apprenticeship examinations based on the Austrian model – your employees will acquire recognized qualifications.

Our training formats include face-to-face, live online, and blended learning, all of which are designed to optimally prepare professionals for customer needs.

Qualifying skilled workers worldwide

WIFI International supports Austrian companies abroad with targeted vocational training and continuing education. We act as a bridge between your international branches and your headquarters in Austria.

International in-house training

We develop customized training programs tailored to the specific requirements of your branch – whether in Europe or worldwide

Our focus areas:

- Education and Training courses on soft and hard skills up to digitalization and sustainability topics
- Certification programs supplemented by internationally recognized certifications from the WIFI certification body
- Delivered by over 500 trainers in the local language, German, or English
- Active in Southeast and Eastern Europe, the USA, China, Indonesia, Africa, and other regions

Global partnerships in vocational education and training

WIFI International is committed to promoting Austrian training standards and further development of vocational training worldwide.

Our services:

- Establishing and maintaining international educational partnerships
- Qualification of skilled workers in technical fields such as welding, metal technology, carpentry, and others
- Creation of multipliers for high-quality training
- Implementation of personnel certification in accordance with ISO 17024, e.g., in the field of welding

Final apprenticeship examinations based on the Austrian model

On behalf of Austrian companies, we accompany instructor training and final company examinations at the end of the apprenticeship period in foreign subsidiaries.

Examination procedure:

- Conducting the practical part and a technical discussion in accordance with the applicable Austrian training regulations
- Theoretical examinations are conducted by the respective vocational school abroad and are not part of the WIFI examination

Promoting competitiveness and economic development

WIFI International sees itself not only as a training provider, but also as a strategic partner for strengthening Austria as a business location—even beyond its borders. Strong commitment in two key areas:

1

Funded projects

Through EU projects such as Erasmus+ projects and funding programs from the Austrian Development Agency (ADA) or the German Society for International Cooperation (GIZ), we strengthen expertise across borders.

The objectives:

- Focus on international education trends (artificial intelligence and virtual reality, development of hard and soft skills)
- Provision and development of future-oriented educational offerings in the form of innovative education and training programs and continuing education programs, training materials, and tools
- Creating international skilled workers for future-oriented industries
- Preparing skilled workers for the challenges and opportunities of the modern world of work
- Establishing international knowledge alliances and professional networks between educational institutions, institutions, and companies
- Promoting practice-oriented learning and teaching based on the WIFI learning model LENA, which stands for lively and sustainable learning

2

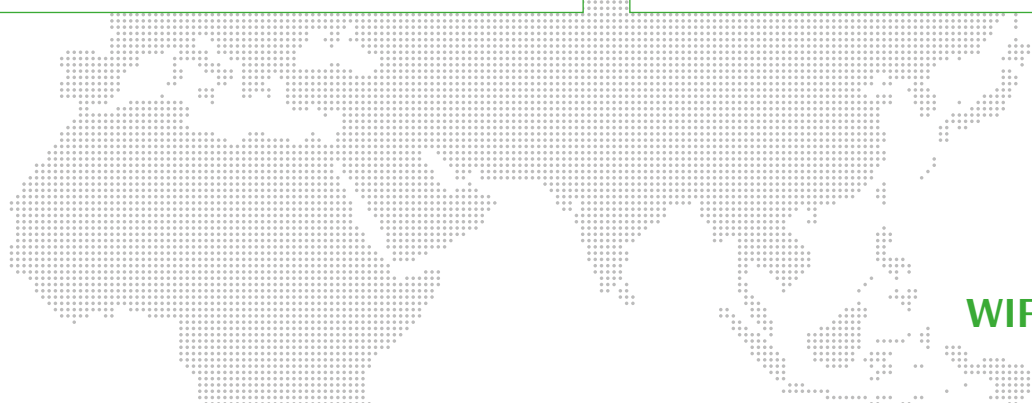

Educational programs for the global world of work

Our international education programs aim to create international skilled workers for the Austrian labor market.

This promotion of education, skills, and international cooperation generates international strategic partnerships.

The measures:

- Prepare international skilled workers for the requirements of the Austrian labor market in order to counteract the shortage of skilled workers
- Assessing professional and language skills for labor market integration
- Commitment as a strategic education partner of the Austrian economy in “third countries” with “Fit4Austria” training, continuing education, and benchmarking programs
